Regarding the Presentation at the Palace Theater Today

SESSUE HAYAKAWA

"THE FIRST BORN"

In advising the theater-going public that Sessue Hayakawa in "The First Born" is the attraction at the Palace Theater today, the management takes the stand that the unusual excellence of this screen offering is worthy of a warranty—that in our opinion, it is the very best photoplay ever featured by the inimitable Japanese player. His enactment of the role in "The Cheat" some months ago, was said to be the acme of histrionic talent—yet, critics who have seen a picturization of Francis Power's celebrated story, "The First Born," declare his rendition of the character Chan Wang a rise to the heights of artistry.

"The First Born" is super-dramatic, carrying one from extreme to extreme — from the land of the "poppy" to San Francisco's Chinatown. There is heart-felt interest, romance, father love, intrigue, a tinge of quaint humor, and a maze of mysterious events that cannot be adequately described.

The management of the Palace theater takes great pleasure in recommending "The First Born" to its patrons as being one of the most important plays of the present season.
